NEWS AROUND TOWN

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I liked this one:

At the dinner table one evening Phyllis reported proudly that her teacher had called her a beaver.

"For being such a hard worker, I suppose?" her mother observed, with equal pride.

"Well, no," said Phyllis. "For chewing my pencil." Pageant.

Miss Edna Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Gregory, was pledged to Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority at the College of William and Mary. Miss Gregory, a sophomore transfer from Madison College, appeared this fall in the part of Mrs. Bassett in the W. & M. Theatre production of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke." In addition, she is a member of the Backdrop Club, the Wesley Foundation, and the feature staff of The Colonial Echo, the college yearbook.

We received a card from Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Reynolds, who are in Los Angeles, Calif. They said that the plane trip out to the coast was wonderful and they are really enjoying their trip. They plan to go to Mexico for the week-end. Not too many years ago, Father Darkleaf and I were on the West Coast and we will never forget California!

Live long enough and you will see most everything! Last Thursday afternoon, to observe our 24th wedding anniversary, Father Darkleaf and I drove to Richmond to see the University of Richmond and William and Mary football game. And at long last, we saw Richmond win. Father Darkleaf, of the Class of 1926, was elated at seeing his school end a long losing streak to the Indians.

Would like to thank all those who remembered our anniversary with cards. Also find that Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blackwell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Covington celebrated wedding anniversaries on Nov. 26, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ransone on Nov. 25.

On our trip to Richmond last week-end, we stopped to eat in Cumberland C. H., and had a nice chat with Mr. and Mrs. Dunn Marks, formerly of Appomattox, now of Charlottesville.

Don't forget to attend the bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 1, sponsored by the Woman's Club. You can get lunch and dinner, and there will be many fine gifts items on sale. Take time to see the Marionette Show being staged by Mrs. L. C. McKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Moore, who have been living in Richmond, have moved to Chicago, Ill.

"Father Darkleaf, Appomattox, Va.: We want to express our sincere thanks for the nice hospitality shown us while visiting friends and relatives in Appomattox. It was impossible to get around and thank each individual, so this goes for all. We shall never forget our friends there and may God's richest blessings abide with you all. —Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doss, Miss Alma Rogers."

We were calling attention to the fact that Thanksgiving Day was the wedding anniversary of Father Darkleaf and Mother Brightleaf. It now comes to our attention that Christmas Day is the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. DeWitt Evans!

Aubrey Edmonds, of Lawrenceville, is now employed with The Times-Virginian, and is staying at Hotel Appomattox. He is a recent graduate of the Danville Training Institute, having completed a 15-month course in the printing department of that school. We welcome him to Appomattox.

At the big bazaar here Saturday, beginning at 11 A. M., you can find a full agenda of outstanding activies. Lunch and dinner will be served. For dinner you can have a choice of ham or turkey, with all the trimmings. You may make purchases from a wide variety of gift items, and there will be entertainment features. Oh yes—the place: high school cafeteria!

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cawthorne, accompanied by Jim Cobb, of Pamplin, and Miss Eleanor Johnson, of Lynchburg, will motor to Philadelphia this week-end, where they will attend the Army - Navy football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Winters will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 2, from 2 to 5 P. M. in the basement of ilberty Baptist Church. No invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives are invited.

Thanks to our friend, Mr. F. L. Murphy for bringing us 2 very fine quail. He remembers us every year with a gift of birds, and we pray his hunting success will continue!

The Christmas street lights are up in Appomattox, thanks to the Appomattox volunteer firemen. Let them be turned on! Will we have a community Christmas tree this year?

A card advises that the address of Appomattox's Warren C. Martin is now: 4556 Culbertson Street, La Mesa, California. Sorry he will not be able to get home for Christmas.

Mrs. Janice Lemen, Associate Professor of Art at Longwood College, Farmville, will be the guest speaker at the December meeting of the Woman's Club of Appomattox. The meeting will be held Monday at 3:15 P. M. in the Elementary School. The Art Division, of which Mrs. S. S. Shouse is chairman, will present the program.

Mrs. Lemen was Supervising Consultant, Longwood College faculty member, 1941-46. She received her B. S. in Education at State Teachers College, Farmville. Mrs.; M. A., Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Stuart Farrar, Mrs. Rives Black, Mrs. Robert Bruce and Mrs. John Grisel.

The Spout Springs Baptist Church held their monthly business meeting Sunday evening, Nov. 22, at 7:30. Fifteen boys were present. The meeting was presided over by Jimmy Martin.

YOUNG PURSE SNATCHER

New York- Mrs. Rose Hoe, a 70-year-old great grandmother, was knocked down on the street and robbed by a boy and girl—both 12 years old. The purse contained $50.

FATHER DIES IN STAND

Memphis, Tenn.- Just moments before his 14-year-old son, a high halfback, plunged over for the score, R. W. Vollmer, 40, was urging his son on, was stricken with a fatal heart attack. Before the game ended, halfback Jimmy Vollmer raced for another touchdown to win the Junior big league meeting title.

HIGH-CLIMBING COON

Jacksonville, Fla.- Firemen were called when a raccoon was seen clinging seven stories up on a building. How the animal got there no one knows. The coon was finally lodged and firemen caught it in a net as it fell.

HATTIE SETS RECORD

Honolulu.- Hattie, a hen of a Hawaiian breed, has set what owners believe to be an unofficial world's record for egg laying. The hen, owned by Kazuo Onitsuka, of Waipahu, Oahu, laid 405 eggs in the last twelve months. Onitsuka attributes his hen's success to scientific breeding techniques that have produced a new registered breed, called the Hawaiian Reds.

ONE WAY TO DO IT

Albuquerque, N. Mex.- Indians and cowboys who live at the Continental Divide in the mountains of New Mexico's Navajo country are beware! The building is now equipped with photoelectric cells and archways leading into the establishment. No one will be able to sneak in or out, after 10 P. M., without tripping a burglar alarm.

Appomattox is a growing town.

BALLOON RECORD

Rapid City, S. Dak.- Two Navy commanders, Malcolm D. Ross, 37, and Morton L. Lewis, 43, both of Washington, D. C., recently soared to the record height of 76,000 feet in a gondola attached to a big gas-filled balloon. The earlier record of 71,395 feet was set in a flight from here in 1935.

EGG PRICE OUTLOOK FOR 1957 DISCUSSED

Lower prices for eggs during the first half of 1957, compared to a year earlier, followed by "relatively favorable prices" in the fall, is the outlook for Virginia.

Virginia's laying flock on October 1 was estimated to be 4 per cent less than a year earlier. Additions to the laying flock from the 1956 late replacement hatch (April-July) probably did not equal the birds culled from laying flocks. The laying flock this winter is about 5 per cent less than during the 1955-56 season.

For the nation, the laying flock on October 1 was about the same as a year ago. The 1956 replacement hatch was early with most of the increase over 1955 coming in March or earlier.

Further additions to the 1956-57 laying flock are not likely to change the size of the flock from last season. This season's flock, however, has a higher proportion of pullets which should mean more culling and a slight increase in the total number of layers on January 1.

The rate of lay per bird is likely to continue up. In Virginia the average rate of lay increased from 155 eggs per layer in 1946 to an estimated 181 eggs this year. This was less than the national increase.

Demand for eggs should be good in 1957. Prospects are for poultry feed prices to stay about the same, or rise a little. Other cost items in egg production likely will show little change.

Over the past ten years the farm prices of eggs in Virginia during the fall and winter has averaged between 9 and 10c a dozen above the price in the spring and summer. The economists say many producers should find it profitable to start flock replacements in January so their pullets would begin their heaviest egg production by August and continue it through the following months of high egg prices.

Oakville

Oakville, Nov. 27.- Mr. and Mrs. Garland Burcher, of Dahlgren, attended the wedding of her sister, Miss Rebecca Moore, and Beryl Covington Saturday evening at Mt. Comfort Church.

Miss Elizabeth Haskins spent Thanksgiving at her home in Farmville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Coleman had as their Thanksgiving dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Richardson, Betty Jo and Bill; Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Martin, Jr., Jimmy and Richard; Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Lewis and Rickie, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarke Moore.
